19th Biennial Meeting

SFRR 2018
04-07 JUN

Lisbon Congress Centre

19th SFRRI Biennial Meeting

4-7 June 2018, Lisbon, Portugal

The 19th biennial meeting for the Society for Free Radical Research International (SFRRI)

Will be held at the Lisbon Conference Centre by the Tagus River and near Lisbon's most monumental and historical area. It was from here that many of the great Portuguese explorers embarked on their sea voyages of discovery.

Lisbon, Europe's Westernmost and sunniest capital, is able to transmit a feeling of community across borders and across continents. SFRRI 2018 will be a universal event in a universal city.

This meeting will be a prominent forum for the latest advances in the fundamentals of Redox Biology and Free Radical Research and its Clinical and Biotech/Pharmaceutical applications. Also, recent (bio)technological developments and analytical strategies to tackle the role of redox Biology in health and disease, aiming at preventing, cure and delaying disease will be discussed.

The SFRRI 2018 will start on Monday, June 4 and is scheduled for the following four days (through Thursday, June 7).

The scientific program will include daily parallel thematic sessions and plenary lectures, as well as poster presentations, scientific societies meetings and commercial exhibitions and workshops, organized in an open space fashion to stimulate networking and discussions during the four days.

The symposia were selected based on proposals submitted by members of the SFRRI. Furthermore, an Early Career Symposium will take place on the first day (June 4, Monday) by the morning. Orals selected from abstracts will be part of additional symposia. In addition to the Symposia, the congress will have a number of plenary and keynote lectures selected from award lecture proposals submitted to SFRRI and SFRRE.

SFRRI MISSION

The Society for Free Radical Research is an International Society and operates as a charitable voluntary, non-profit making institution. The aims and objectives of the International Society are to advance education in free radical processes with particular reference to those of industrial and medical importance, informing education for the benefit of the public. Founded in 1982, and now with over 2500 members worldwide, the Society consists of five autonomous regional groups: SFRRI Asia, SFRRI Europe, SFRRI Australasia, Society for Free Radical Biology and Medicine (SFRRI Americas) and SFRRI Africa. A number of regional groups have also been established within these areas. The international society has held meetings every two years with the first of these being at Brunel University in 1982.

INDUSTRY & CORPORATE SPONSORS

Free radicals and related reactive intermediates are known to be involved in a wide range of industrial, biological and medical processes of commercial importance. These range from atmospheric chemistry, through chemical synthesis and polymer degradation, through to UV damage to plants and humans, the role of redox modulators/regulators (oxidants/antioxidants) in human and animal health, development of new drugs and therapies, and the diagnosis and treatment of a wide range of important human diseases. The Society welcomes dialogue with industrial and commercial concerns with similar interests and is always keen to hear of potential mutually beneficial opportunities for commercial and industrial interactions.

Symposia

- Advances in Mitochondrial Physiology (OCC SYMPOSIUM)
- Molecular Oxygen in Health And Disease: One Tissue's Hypoxia is Another's Hyperoxia
- Ferroptosis: A Program or a Free Radical Catastrophe?
- Biological Roles of Heme-Protein Redox Interactions
- The Biology of H₂O₂ After 200 Years of its Discovery by Thenard
- Oxidative stress and signaling by reactive oxygen and nitrogen species in plants
- Crosstalk Between Oxidative Stress and Inflammation in Cerebrovascular Disease: Mechanisms and Therapeutic Interventions
- Nitric Oxide Biochemistry
- Reactive Oxygen Species and Musculoskeletal Ageing
- A Systems Oriented Perspective on Key Processes in Redox Stress and Regulation
- Caloric Restriction and Caloric Restriction Mimetics as Interventions in Aging
- Defence and Adaptation – The Critical Role of Reactive Oxygen Species

19th SFRRRI Biennial Meeting

4-7 June 2018, Lisbon, Portugal

Sponsorship and Exhibition Information

WHY YOU SHOULD BE PART OF THE 19th biennial meeting for the Society for Free Radical Research International (SFRRRI)?

Extensive global network of life scientists in academia, business and government is being targeted to generate a highly qualified audience from the chemistry, biology and medicine community. Sponsorship provides an excellent opportunity to "get your company's name out" to a scientific network of representatives and a prime opportunity to make impressions on decision makers.

USE YOUR PRESENCE AT SFRRRI TO:

- launch new products and highlight existing ones
- spotlight key executives
- elevate your company profile in the chemistry, biology and medicine community
- network with specialists, seek international partners and form new alliances
- increase visibility in focused markets
- give maximum exposure for your company and increase brand awareness
- position your organization
- communicate your message to a highly qualified scientific community
- build relationships for the future
- attract new talent and strengthen partnerships
- generate sales leads and educate the market
- sell direct to international buyers

Coffee breaks and lunch are provided for all delegates in the exhibition multifunctional area, keeping them on-site all day thus maximising the networking opportunities.

How can this be achieved? Read further to find out the exclusive sponsorship and exhibition opportunities that are available.

Please note:

Sponsorship opportunities are limited and are available on a strictly first-come, first-served basis, so to ensure your presence at this event please contact us at your earliest opportunity. All sponsors will be acknowledged on the conference website (www.sfrri2018lisbon.organideia.pt), in the programme booklet and on various e-mail shots.
